

Contributing Editor: Sandra Pitronaci

Sandra has served in the ELT sector for over 15 years in teaching, teacher training and academic leadership roles across ELICOS colleges and university English language centres. She previously taught LOTE/ESL in high schools and primary schools, and Italian language in undergraduate university programs and adult community colleges. She has had copywriting, proofreading, journal writing and blogging experience, and is a keen reader of ELT publications.

Sandra is a highly engaged participant in the ELT sector, and is Convenor of the English Australia Academic Managers SIG, Newsletter Editor for IATEFL LAMSIG, and is one of a team of moderators for the 2500+ member #AusELT Facebook group.

On the English Australia Journal, Sandra has served as Reviews Editor and Classroom Talk Editor, and is now Contributing Editor, where she interviews for the Ten Questions section and covers various English Australia happenings.

Sandra holds a BA (Hons), Dip Ed (LOTE/ESL), Grad Cert Higher Ed, Masters in Applied Linguistics TESOL, and the International Diploma in Language Teaching Management (IDLTM), and she has presented at English Australia, NEAS, UECA, IATEFL, CamTESOL and CLESOL conferences.

Sandra is currently National Academic Director ELICOS & Pathways at ILSC Australia.
