

English Australia Matter of Practice Editor: Benjamin Carkagis

Benjamin is the Education Manager for Professional Programs at the University of Sydney, Centre for English Teaching + Learning Hub. Benjamin has taught, written and managed a wide range of English language and teacher training programs in Australia and around the world over the past 15 years. He holds two Masters of Education degrees, in TESOL and Organisational and Workplace Learning, and is currently undertaking a PhD in Education. Benjamin is passionate about fostering both teacher and student autonomy, as well as exploring and supporting professional development practices.

